

Question 6

If we have a heavy write-transaction, I think that Multi-Version Timestamp Ordering (MVTO) can support higher throughput. Because in OOC version, at the validation phase, there will be many conflicts (heavy write) to solve so all test will be fail then this transaction have to wait to restart once the other transaction finished (overheads).